HUNTERS LOSE CAR BUT WORST OF ALL FAIL TO TAKE HOME PHEASANTS

Two San Jose State college students who started for Nevada county last Saturday with a view toward pheasant hunting returned to San Jose Sunday minus the car, and worst of all minus any pheasants.

They are Frank R. Evers, son of Frank L. Evers, local representative of the Metropolitan Life insurance company, and Don Catterson of San Jose.

According to Evers Sr., the pair was forced from the highway in the Verona area early Saturday evening. The car landed in a two-foot irrigation ditch and was a complete loss. The boys who were treated at the Sacramento emergency hospital for minor injuries, were later brought to Nevada City by Evers Sr., who also took them to an Jose Sunday.

RIDGE CHURCH MEMORIALIZED WITH PLAQUE

By Mrs. Roberta Stuart

A church whose origin is lost in the antiquity of history was memorialized Sunday with the placing of and dedication of a plaque by Columbia Parlor No. 70, Native Daughters of the Golden West.

The historic building is the Catholic church at Birchville, one time thriving community of the San Juan ridge north of here.

The building is known to have been used as an armory during the Civil war by the predominantly Irish residents of the early period.

Following singing of mass in the ancient church by Father Virgil Gabrielle at noon, the marker was placed at the entrance to the church.

Mrs. Maude Campbell opened the dedicatory program before the approximately 100 spectators by singing "America the Beautiful," accompanied by Mrs. Stella Sauers.

Introduced by Mrs. Phillis Butz Fred Conner spoke of the early days of Birchville and read one of his wife's poems, "The Little White Church."

Miss Theresa O'Connor, past president of the parlor, lead the group in a prayer.

Mrs. Roberta Stuart, vice president of the parlor, gave a short talk on the activities and aims of the organization.

Mrs. Margaret Madden, president of the parlor, spoke briefly of the Native Daughters saying the organization "can be compared to a temple of loyal cooperation and service built on the foundation stones of our order—love of home, devotion to our flag, veneration of the pioneers, and faith in God."

Mrs. Madden also extolled the pioneers of California who blazed the trail and laid the foundation of the great empire of the west—our California.

Mrs. Madden removed the covering flag from the marker while the national anthem was played and sung.

As the notes of the song died away on the ridge Mrs. Madden dedicated the marker with the words, "Columbia Parlor No. 70, Native Daughters of the Golden West, dedicates this marker to loyalty, cooperation, progress and to the ideals of American democracy."

Father Gabrielle blessed the marker to complete the program.

Refreshments were served after the program in the Birchville school house.

KEIF MELBERG ASKS FOR RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

Keif D. Melberg, chairman of Nevada City chapter, American Red Cross, has announced need for additional persons to participate in chapter activities. As a matter of explanation, the local chapter should be more active in several of the activities which are a part of the American Red Cross program, such as home service, disaster preparedness, nursing activities, first aid and water safety and many others.

The general organization plan is to place each activity in the hands of a committee headed by a chairman who in turn is a member of the executive board. Thus, the thinking and efforts of each committee come before the executive board for consideration and probable adoption, as a part of the organization's over-all objectives.

Unfortunately, it is not always possible to reach people for these committees who would enjoy the challenge of such group planning and the satisfaction of achievement, because we do not know of them. Too often civic groups and local organizations call on the same individuals for participation to the extent that these few are far too overburdened and are carrying an unfair share of the civic responsibility that we all should share.

It is the purpose of this article to solicit the services of individuals for committee service, preferably for committees they feel they would be interested in and would like to see promoted. This first week, the call is for committee members to serve under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mae Crane for the promotion of first aid and water safety. Activity on such a committee might include planning for first aid courses of instruction, surveying and setting up highway first aid stations, planning and recommending and assisting local authorities on continued improvements of swimming and recreation facilities..

The local chapter therefore urges everyone interested in first aid and water safety to make their interests known by contacting Mrs. Crane so that she may select her committee from persons who are really interested in that type of activity.

There will be future calls for persons to serve on many of the various other committees that the local chapter would like to see activated.

GRADING STARTS TODAY ON SITE OF SEWER PLANT

Street Commissioner H. F. Sofge announced a bulldozer is starting work this morning on opening a road to the proposed site of a Nevada City sewage disposal plant The bulldozer, Sofge said, will also be utilized for grading and terracing of the site.

John A. Carollo and T. J. Hanley, Phoenix, Ariz., agengineers for Hedman, Ferguson and Carollo, an engineering firm, estimated Monday evening before the city council that a sewage disposal plant could be built for $100,000 provided the city or county did the preliminary grading and terracing work at the plant site on the old Price ranch west of the city.

Carollo estimated an additional $15,000 would be required for pipe line feeders from the community to the plant.

The two engineers spent the middle part of this week discussing revisions of the proposed plant with engineers of the state board of health in Sacramento.

Carollo said a grading map will be forwarded to the city in the very hear future.

Four to five months was the estimated construction time of a plant, according to Carollo.

Maintenance of the plant ought to be approximately $200 Carollo said. Three hours a day attention by an attendant and a daily use of 15 pounds of chlorine will maintain the plant.

Carollo said garbage disposal sinks will not bother the plant and copper sulphate solution will keep the sewer mains free.

Carollo said the proposed plant would serve 5,000 persons and on overload will take care of 6,000. The run-off from the plant will be purer than the creek water flowing through the city, Carollo said.

Carollo declared the city is consuming 2½ times as much water as the average community of this size. He said with metered water the consumption would be 500,000 gallons daily in comparison with the present 1,300,000 gallons daily used.

City Clerk George H. Calanan said the city has $14,000 in government bonds available for the plant and can receive a $29,000 grant from the state provided the construction is completed next year. The balance of the money would have to be raised by a bond issue.

Following receipt of the revised plans and specifications the question of a bond issue will be submitted to the electorate.

The council appointed Verle Gray recreational coordinator.

Others at the meeting were A. B. Innis, mayor; Thomas Taylor and William Mullis, councilmen; J. F. Siegfried and Ed Uren, engineers.

Herb Hallett, city street superintendent, who had a crew of men at the area Wednesday clearing brush said they saw lots of bear sign and are keeping a sharp lookout for the critter or critters.

FORREST VARNEY WILL BE GUEST OF COUNTY SPORTSMEN MONDAY

Forrest Varney, manager of Nevada Irrigiation District, will attend Monday evening's meeting of the Nevada County Sportsmen's club at the chamber of commerce rooms of city hall, according to an announcement by H. F. Sofge, secretary.

Sofge said Varney had been invited to the meeting to discuss conservation practices in waters of the irrigation district.

Jack Frazier, Placerville, biologist state division of fish and game, has also been invited to the Monday meeting, Sofge said.

Nomination of officers for 1950 will also be made at the meeting.

SEX CRIMES SHOULD NOT HAPPEN

A recent wave of sex crimes against little children has horrified the nation. And yet none of those crimes ought ever to have happened and it is in our power to prevent them in the future.

Psychologists have agreed that perverts manifest themselves months and often years before a criminal action occurs. Treatment and if necessary, castration should not be hesitated at.

We cannot shrug off sexual crimes' manifestations with "Oh, he's harmless or a moron," for the fondler often turns into the perpetrator of an ugly crime.

Well, it finally happened. With apparently innocent intent (judging from the tone of the letter—a renewal of subscription) a correspondent saluted us with "Dear Messrs Bray."

Overheard Saturday on Broad street: "Now children, you stay on the sidewalk. This is the city not North San Juan."

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder at the power of names
To start the human mind
On journeys leading everywhere
On paths that wind and wind.

In Mark Twain's book, "The Garden of Eden," he avers that Adam and his lovely lady walked about the earth inspecting all objects that attracted their attention and that, while doing so, Eve named the hills and streams, the birds and the beasts, and that in each case her reason for bestowing a name was the same, "Why, Adam, it looks like that." For instance, when they finally stood before Niagara Falls, Eve said, "We will call this body of water Niagara."

"Why?" said Adam.

"Why," said Eve, "it looks like that."

This was, of course, a fantastic thought, from the mind of our own Mark Twain, but if it were true, it would be no more unreasonable than the excuses given at times for the names with which we are familiar. They may mean something quite the reverse and so it was that Shakespeare was moved to inquire, "What's in a name?"

A few years ago, an artist from the eastern seaboard came to California, set up his easel on a lovely bit of bay shoreline and painted a seascape of more than ordinary merit. The picture was reproduced and published in a well known magazine and under it was this legend, "A View of Marine County's Shore."

The mistake was a natural one, many Californians are prone to make it; the picture was a marine, why not from Marine County? It looked like that, but alas the name was that of an Indian chief, Marin, and surely that bit of shoreline did not look like an Indian chief.

California has a wealth of beautiful and significant names to its credit and we should seek to preserve them in their original form insofar as that is possible. The Franciscan fathers gave to the towns and cities of our state the cherished names of their beloved saints, San Pedro, Santa Barbara, Santa Rosa and many another; these beautiful names have come down to us from the storied past and they have suffered but little change from the hands of practical men of affairs.

At one time the postal authorities sought to shorten some of these names and in the case of Los Angeles, no one can blame them. Imagine writing to a friend and sending the letter to El Cuidad de Nuestra Senora la Reina de Los Angeles, and that really was the baptismal name of our big southern city. San Buena Ventura was shortened to Ventura and a few other unnecessarily long names were slightly clipped, but in the main we have today the names left us by an era of glorious events and devout, self sacrificing men.

We may well frown upon the thoughtless ones who sometimes speak of "Frisco, Los, Berdoo," etc. Were we to meet the saints for whom those cities are named, we would speak to them courteously and by their correct names. Imagine calling Saint Francis "Fritz." Imagining other situations quite as incongruous and then take time to say San Francisco, San Bernardino and San Juan Capistrano.

Let us also preserve as well as we can the names given by our forty-niner pioneers to the camps and cities which they founded. These names are not so beautiful and sacred as those given by the Franciscan fathers to the missions and towns they loved, but for the sake of the days of old, let's still speak of Red Dog, Moonshine, Yuba Dam, etc. What's in a name? History, romance, memories. Names may tell us stories, let us pause and listen.

Letters to The Editor

The views and opinions appearing in this column, Letters to The Editor, are not necessarily those of The Nugget.

You may consider this letter a protest against the almost prohibitory prices now charged by Nevada irrigation district to water users in this district.

I bought property in Nevada City on April 9, 1941. At that time the water service charges were $18 per year. With assessment of $1.26 for the year making a total of $19.26 for the year.

This charge continued from 1941 to 1947. At this date, 1947, the charges were increased to $20.40 per year, with assessment of $4 making a total of $24.40.

In 1948 service charges raised to $28.80, assessment $4, for year total, $32.80.

In 1949 service charges $28.80 taxes, $12.50 (not assessment) total for year $41.30.

It is an increase of over 100 percent from 1941 to 1949. By what right does this company have to levy taxes? Does the authority for this raise come from the commission, or is it done arbitrarily by Nevada irrigation district, Or does the law by the state provide for it?

This prohibitive price not only works a hardship on the user, but also handicaps this vicinity in further development.

Furthermore the water changes exceed our county taxes by $4 for the year.

Is there any redress for this water situation?

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Watch Out For The Symptoms!

Laughed out loud when I heard Hoot Davis was down with Chicken Pox. A man of forty-five catching a kid's disease!

So I went to see him, armed with jokes about "second childhood" but forgot them fast when I got there. Hoot looked terrible and had quite a fever.

While we talked, I come to think of how Chicken Pox is a lot like other "diseases"—diseases of the character, such as intolerance, self-righteousness or just plain ignorance. They're excusable in children, but when they come out in adults they're ten times as bad—and can be mighty "contagious."

From where I sit, we should all watch out for the "symptoms"—little things like criticising a person's preference for a friendly glass of temperate beer or ale. We've seen personal freedom wither away in other countries, when individual intolerance was allowed to get out of hand and become a nation-wide epidemic.

- replace old furnace filters

Is your heating equipment ready for winter duty? Have you slicked it up for clean, healthful and efficient delivery of the heat you will need? It will pay you to look at your furnace filters and replace them with clean, new filters. Your heating dealer has them. It will be worth a sneeze or two to clean out the floor pit of your cold air returns or floor furnaces. You will find less dusting to do in your home if this clean-up job is done every six months. Then too, you will be getting more heat and burning less gas.

If repairs are needed on your heating equipment, do not attempt to make them yourself.

Call your local gas heating equipment dealer.

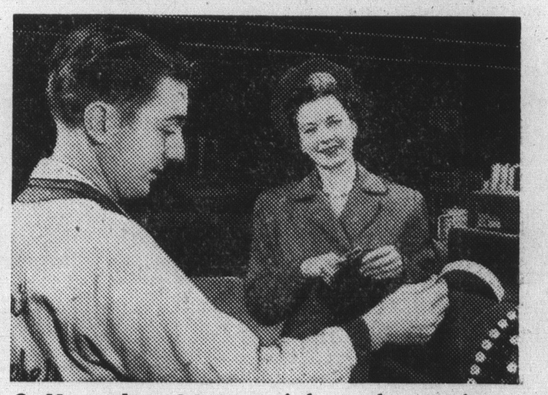
These folks mean business for the West... Pacific Telephone people receive pay adding up to $19,000,000 a month.

Telephone paychecks also come to you



1. Timber . . . paper . . . copper—we have to buy many things to build and run the telephone system. Last year Western Electric, our principal manufacturer and supplier, bought over 20 million dollars worth of materials in the West. More than half of each dollar we take in goes for employees. Most of it is spent and goes into circulation where they work and live.

2. More than 80,000 of those whose savings built the business . . . who own telephone stock . . . live in the West. In return for the use of their money, a few pennies of each telephone dollar go to them. And as they spend it, they also add to Western prosperity. It would probably be hard to find anyone who does not in some way benefit from the money we spend.

3. When you add it all up, you find the money you spend for service comes back, in large part, to you. And your telephone dollars are buying more service than ever. Today you can call more of the people you want to call . . . more can call you. And your telephone still does its jobs for only a few pennies a call.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains

DRIVERS TESTS TAKEN BY HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Nevada City high school students have completed a series of tests as a part of driver education program now required by al high school pupils by state law.

The students were given tests similar to those given air force pilots, measuring depth perception, reaction time, recovery from glare and field of vision.

Depth perception equipment consists of an open end box in which are two model automobiles. One car is attached to a string and can be moved by the operator who attempts to align the two cars or align the movable car with a stop sign near the back of the box. A scale on the bottom of the box measures the results.

Driver reaction time is measured with a testing device simulating automobile brake and accelerator pedals. When pressure is applied to the accelerator, a green light flashes. The brake pedal is pressed when the light changes to red and the reaction distance plus braking distance at different speeds under ideal road and brake conditions is indicated on a rotating graph.

Other equipment measures the time required to recover from glare of oncoming automobile headlights and the field of vision while looking straight ahead.
